Seattle, WA 98146
206-[redacted]

Affiliation: ILWU (International Longshore and Warehouse Union)

Title: Member, and currently running for President of Local 19 (Seattle Charter of the ILWU)
Work History: Longshoring for 15 years.
Titles/Positions held:

2006 Safety Representative for Local 19, to present.

2008 Business Agent; negotiated Safety Contract in conjunction with Master CBA (Collective Bargaining Agreement). Resided in San Francisco for 7 months during negotiations.

2009 Labor Relations Representative for Local 19.
Member of Coast Safety Committee for the ILWU for the duration of the current CBA 2008-2014. The Coast Safety Committee attends several meetings worldwide. Within the U.S., the committee works within MACOSH (Marine Advisory Committee to Occupational Safety and Health) to formulate safe work practices within the Longshoring Industry. These recommendations are taken into consideration by OSHA (Occupational Safety and Health Administration) for regulatory rules and enforcement.

2010 Attendee of ILO (International Labor Organization) in Geneva, Switzerland.
The purpose of this meeting was to formulate safe work practices within the Port Sectors in The United States, Europe, Africa, Spain, Russia, China, Japan and Australia; developing training that would be universal and benefit the productivity and safety of workers in the Port Sector. This is a document that is still being formulated to date and meetings are ongoing in Geneva, Switzerland through the ILO.

My interest to be a member on the Freight Advisory Board:

It is vital to the ILWU and the Port of Seattle that freight is able to flow effectively through the Pacific Northwest to maintain our competitive edge in the import export business. Seattle has enjoyed a record year for containers flowing through our terminals. Thus far, in 2010 Seattle has nearly reached a record of 2 million T.E.U.'s (twenty foot equivalent containers). It is very important with many road infrastructure projects ongoing and scheduled projects to begin that we all work together to keep said cargo flowing efficiently through the Ports. In essence, it is not only the Longshoring industry that is benefiting from this volume. Distribution centers, retailers, farming communities, and several other industries in our state of Washington, and neighboring states depend on that freight moving through the Port of Seattle. It equates to jobs, which is the key component to revitalizing Washington States economy.
