David Cutler AIA

Senior Associate

David's experience includes residential, institutional, and mixed-use architecture at many scales, with a focus in urban design and in planning for the systems that enable resilient neighborhoods. At the block-, district-, and city-scale, his projects often include transit, public-private partnerships, form-based codes, blended funding sources, and significant public engagement. David spearheads GGLO's research into embodied carbon at the district scale and the firm's membership in the Seattle 2030 District. He has spoken regionally and nationally on topics related to urban design.

Prior to his tenure at GGLO, David worked with the international architecture and planning firm, Torti Gallas and Partners, leading the firm's urban design and coding work for the Western United States. He has also worked with AIA Firm of the Year Award winner Moore Ruble Yudell Architects and Planners.
