Patrick Sainsbury Resume

Education

Graduate of Stanford University and Stanford University Law School.

Studied at NYU Graduate School of Business night school while working at Citibank between college and law school.

Work Experience

Two years in a downtown Los Angeles business law firm.

One year as researcher and writer for National Association of Attorneys General. Researched and wrote about successful programs around the country, and wrote a newsletter covering the then-emerging area of civil rights litigation under 42 U.S.C. 1983.

Worked in the Fraud Division of the King County Prosecutor's office for 34 years to July 2007. The first 8+ years worked as a fraud investigator and prosecutor, including aggravated consumer frauds, employee thefts, real estate and investment frauds, and insurance frauds. Beginning in 1982 was the Chief Deputy of the Fraud Division, overseeing fraud investigations and prosecutions, complex asset forfeiture cases, and investigations and prosecutions of organized theft and fencing, narcotics, vice, and official corruption and abuse of office. These included all the state racketeering cases brought in King County. In recent years took a special interest in thefts from the elderly.

Took a special interest in legislation, including insurance fraud, electronic surveillance, racketeering, forfeiture, money laundering, reporting financial abuse of the elderly, consumer protection, and tax evasion legislation. Primary drafter of Washington's money laundering, drug case one party consent, and pen register/trap and trace statutes.

Board Experience

1978 to approx. 1985. Queen Anne Community Council representative to MetroTransition Downtown Task Force, the group of downtown businesspeople, transit activists, and neighborhood representatives that recommended the downtown transit tunnel to the Metro Council. Served as Vice Chair and Acting Chair.

1998 to present. Member of the Board of King County Employees Deferred Compensation Plan. This board runs the County's Plan, including all the organization of the Plan, dealing with all the issues that arise, selecting an investment menu, and selecting and working with a third-party administrator. Chair of the Board since about 2001.
