Comments:
With over a decade of community organizing and transportation policy experience both in the City of Seattle and State of Washington, Adam Bartz is well positioned to help the Seattle Bicycle Advisory Board act as stewards of the Bicycle Master Plan. He balances his transportation policy experience with on-the-ground knowledge of bicycling in Seattle. His morning commute begins by biking with his five year-old son, Elliott, from his Beacon Hill home to his school along the Chief Sealth Trail. From school, he rides paved trails, sharrow painted streets, separated bike lanes and a short stretch of sidewalk to reach his office on Aurora Ave, north of South Lake Union.
