Background: Lily Berticevich is currently proving her dedication to public service in her AmeriCorps term as the YMCA Get Engaged program coordinator and YTech digital media educator. Both positions allow her to advance civic engagement among diverse young people in Seattle. Her commitment to civic engagement extends, now, to her seat on the Pedestrian Advisory Board, which appealed to her much because of her own experience as a committed pedestrian in Seattle. Having recently graduated from UCLA with a Communications and Political Science degree, Lily understands through experience and by working with the Los Angeles County Regional Planning Department that distinct and deliberate planning contributes to the walkability of a particular environment. Working with the American Planning Association's Great Places in America program to nominate annual candidates, Lily critiqued many areas with a critical eye toward many facets of important planning criteria, including walkability. She appreciates that pedestrian issues also encompass other social issues that she is passionate about, including access to food and income distribution. The Pedestrian Advisory Board and Get Engaged program welcome Lily's enthusiasm for civic engagement and public service and eye toward pedestrian issues.
