

CITY OF SEATTLE
ORDINANCE _____
COUNCIL BILL _____

AN ORDINANCE relating to the organization of City government; creating an Office of Labor Standards; establishing the mission and functions of the Office of Labor Standards; describing the responsibilities and membership of a Labor Standards Advisory Commission; and adding new sections 3.14.934 and 3.14.945 to the Seattle Municipal Code.

WHEREAS, the City of Seattle is a leader on wage, labor, and workforce practices that enhance equity, address the ‘wage gap’ and create a fair and healthy economy for workers, businesses and residents, and the City has enacted ordinances related to criminal wage theft, paid sick and safe time, use of criminal history in employment decisions, and minimum wage and minimum compensation requirements for employees working in Seattle; and,

WHEREAS, in order to continue this leadership, the City Council, with the Mayor in concurrence, sponsored a review of City ordinances, regulations, policies and standards that pertain to wage, labor and workforce issues to determine how the City could more effectively implement and enforce these laws; and,

WHEREAS, the City Council adopted City Council Green Sheet 15-1-A-2 with the 2014 Adopted Budget, providing the Department of Finance and Administrative Services with resources to work with the Office for Civil Rights (OCR) and Office of Economic Development to support a Labor Standards Advisory Group co-convened by the Mayor and Council to assist the City in gaining greater compliance by businesses with labor standards; and

WHEREAS, the Labor Standards Advisory Group was tasked with providing advice and making recommendations to the Mayor on a range of topics including:

1. The City’s role in gaining compliance with labor standards and workforce policies;
2. The most pressing gaps and priorities in City enforcement efforts;
3. The most effective compliance strategies, including use of community-based outreach efforts and public information and marketing strategies; and
4. Ideas for improving the coordination of compliance and enforcement efforts by City departments.

WHEREAS, in March 2014, the Mayor and Council jointly appointed representatives from labor, business, and members of the community with a demonstrated concern and

1 background in labor standards and co-convened the first meeting of the Labor Standards
2 Advisory Group; and

3 WHEREAS, during the tenure of the Labor Standards Advisory Group, the City Council passed
4 and the Mayor signed Ordinance 124490, establishing minimum wage and minimum
5 compensation rates for employees working in Seattle. The work of the Labor Standards
6 Advisory Group expanded to include this ordinance into the labor standards enforcement
7 and compliance discussion as well; and

8 WHEREAS, in September 2014, the Labor Standards Advisory Group presented a number of 9 policy options for the Mayor and Council to consider. Based on the consideration of 10 those options the Mayor proposes the Council create an Office of Labor Standards that 11 would:

- 12 1. Establish a comprehensive education and outreach structure so employers and 13 employees understand their roles, responsibilities and rights under labor standards 14 ordinances.
- 15 2. Establish partnerships with organizations to provide outreach and education regarding 16 wage and labor laws and standards.
- 17 3. Build a strong and effective mix of enforcement strategies that complements a 18 comprehensive education and outreach effort for employees and employers.
- 19 4. Establish a solid framework for conducting investigations.
- 20 5. Focus labor standards investigations and penalties for violations on employers who 21 are habitual or egregious violators, and where violations are systemic; and

22 WHEREAS, in Ordinance 124490, the City Council made a finding of fact that in Seattle, the 23 weight of income inequality falls disproportionately on people of color and on women.
24 More than 34 percent of all women and over 40 percent of African Americans and Asian 25 and Pacific Islander Americans rank among low wage workers in Seattle. For Latinos, 26 that number is nearly 50 percent, and it is 70 percent for Native Americans; and

27 WHEREAS, labor standards are civil rights for all workers and any violation of these rights has a 28 disproportionate impact on women, people of color, people with limited proficiency with English, workers just entering the work force, and other vulnerable workers; and

WHEREAS, the City of Seattle launched the Race and Social Justice Initiative in 2004, led by the OCR, with the vision of achieving racial equity in the community and the mission of ending institutionalized racism in City government, promoting inclusion and full participation of all residents, and partnering with the community to achieve racial equity across Seattle; and

WHEREAS, OCR has successfully implemented two labor standards ordinances relating to paid sick and safe time (Ordinance 123698) and the use of criminal history in employment

1 decisions (Ordinance 124201) and has well-established procedures for rulemaking,
2 outreach, case investigation and mediation, with high settlement rates; NOW,
3 THEREFORE

Legislation Title:

AN ORDINANCE relating to the organization of City government; creating an Office of Labor Standards; establishing the mission and functions of the Office of Labor Standards; describing the responsibilities and membership of a Labor Standards Advisory Commission; and adding new sections 3.14.934 and 3.14.945 to the Seattle Municipal Code.

Summary of the Legislation:

This legislation establishes in the Office for Civil Rights an Office of Labor Standards, under the direction of the Mayor. The Director of the Office for Civil Rights shall appoint a Division Director, subject to the approval of the Mayor, to manage the Office of Labor Standards. The mission of the Office of Labor Standards is to protect workers' wages, working conditions, safety and health, and end barriers to workplace equity for women, communities of color, immigrants and refugees, and other vulnerable workers. This legislation also charges the Labor Standards Advisory Commission with providing input and feedback to the Office of Labor Standards on issues within its purview.

Background:

As part of the 2014 budget process, the City Council adopted Green Sheet 15-1-A-2 which appropriated $250,000 to the Department of Finance and Administrative Services (FAS) to support work of an advisory group convened by the Council and Mayor to assess how to gain greater compliance of City labor standards by businesses. The Labor Standards Advisory Group met in 2014 and presented a range of options to the Mayor and City Council. One recommendation was to have a centralized source for labor standards employment. OCR has successfully implemented two labor standards ordinances regarding paid sick and safe time and the use of criminal history in employment decisions, and has well-established procedures for rule-making, outreach, case investigation and mediation. The Mayor proposes such a centralized source by establishing an Office of Labor Standards within the Office for Civil Rights.
