RESUME
DONALD T. FELDER, Ph.D

VISION: To advocate within organizations for authentic community partnerships, guiding efforts for empowering citizens to maintain safe neighborhoods, and become caretakers of their schools.

PROFILE: My career reflects this vision and my experience includes:

- Providing consulting services to schools, and community organizations in the Northwest Region;
- Mediating agreements between school officials, families and children institutions,
- Orchestrating partnerships in Seattle's African American communities, using strategies to advance resilience, create a common focus, and promote strategies for reforming a comprehensive high school and two alternative schools;
- Conducting local and national teacher workshops on behalf of the Black Child Development Institute and National Association of Black Educators, including educational summits in King County;
- Teaching multicultural courses at Antioch University;
- Coaching and supervising educational candidates to obtain a teaching or administrative certificate;
- Evaluating school plans and aligning goals to foster systemic change;
- Establishing community learning centers; promoting educational options for challenging students; engaging students in meaningful learning experiences;
- Assisting school teams in their interpretation of student and parent survey data; establishing protocols for measuring successes and identifying areas for further effort; developing procedures for understanding and correcting student behavior and academic failure;
- Participating on committees charged with the task of eliminating disproportionality academically, creating safe schools, promoting effective teaching procedures, and designing staff development programs;
- Studying prominent schools that successfully completed reform of their K-12 process;
- Principal and administrator for 20 years with Seattle Public Schools; classroom teacher at elementary and secondary levels;
