PATROL DIVISION

Patrol Division is organized into three precincts, Harbor Department and World's Fair. Officers assigned to regular prowler car duties during the 1961 World's Fair performed the major part of the patrol duties of the Police Department. Patrol Division investigates traffic accidents to all major felonies and minor offenses involving civilian personnel.

TRAFFIC DIVISION

Traffic fatalities in Seattle for 1961 were 104, a disproportionate number of deaths resulting from "off roadway", and pedestrian accidents. Attention to the problem of pedestrian accidents has been attained only through a high level of police supervision. Continuing high level of police supervision for traffic supervision, incidental to the patrol duties, is one of the most the capabilities of this Department.

DETECTIVE DIVISION

The Detective Division pointed toward more efficient operations were expanded with the target of more actions. Much of this has been accomplished with clerical help and by other means. 18,483 major cases were reported to the Police Department. The significant crime of robbery gained a clearance rate of 16% more clearance in 1961. Burglary with less offenses reported and more clearance. Personnel: police 104; civilian 13.

STAFF DIVISION

Two significant changes were made in the Staff Division in 1961. The Women's Bureau was transferred to the Detective Division and Narcotics Units were transferred from the Patrol Division to provide more effective coordination of operations. Procedural changes were developed to provide a savings equivalent to three additional officers. Service-training sessions for all patrolmen were held in connection with the recruit training sessions. The Staff Division is especially active in their areas of investigation and criminal elements during the 1962 World's Fair.

SERVICES DIVISION

Operations of the Services Division are under the supervision of the Chief of Police. It includes the Records Bureau, Property Room, Jail Kitchen, Statistics; and approximately 328 logged calls daily. Equipment needed for the operation of the Services Division and yearly budget requirements are submitted to the Mayor for approval.

F. C. RAMON
Chief of Police

PATROL DIVISION

Patrol Division is organized into three precincts and operates a Special Patrol, Helicopter, Harbor Department and World's Fair Security Detail. Four policewomen were assigned to regular prowler car duties during 1961. These policewomen and other uniform officers performed the major part of the crime prevention program of the Seattle Police Department. Patrol Division investigates incidents from family disturbances and traffic accidents to all major felonies. Patrol Division personnel: 557 officers - 6 civilian personnel.

TRAFFIC DIVISION

Traffic fatalities in Seattle for 1961 exceeded any year in the past fifteen. A highly disproportionate number of deaths resulted from one-car accidents, such as, "ran off roadway", and pedestrian accidents. An improvement of this record demands greater attention to the problem of pedestrian-motorist conflicts, an objective that can be attained only through a high level of both enforcement and education. Providing a continuing high level of police traffic enforcement, in light of conditions, and need for traffic supervision, incidental to the Seattle World's Fair, will tax to the utmost the capabilities of this Department. Personnel: police 110; civilian 1.

DETECTIVE DIVISION

The Detective Division pointed toward improving its operation in 1961. Various units were expanded with the target of more actual working personnel in criminal investigations. Much of this has been accomplished by replacing detectives performing office duties with clerical help and by other modern administrative principles. In 1961, 18,483 major cases were reported to the Police Department, or a 2% increase over 1960. The significant crime of robbery gained 3%, but was more than offset by the clearance rate - 16% more clearance in 1961. Burglary incidents showed a substantial improvement with less offenses reported and more clearances than the previous year. Personnel: police 104; civilian 13.

STAFF DIVISION

Two significant changes were made in the organization of the Staff Division during 1961. The Women's Bureau was transferred to the Detective Division; the Intelligence and Narcotics Units were transferred from Detective to Staff Division. These changes provide more effective coordination of work between units dealing with similar functions. Procedural changes were developed by the Juvenile Boys Bureau that resulted in a savings equivalent to three additional officers. The Police Academy conducted in-service-training sessions for all patrolmen and supervisors of the department in addition to the recruit training sessions. The Vice, Intelligence and Narcotics Units were especially active in their areas of investigation because of the expected influx of criminal elements during the 1962 World's Fair. Personnel: police 66; civilian 7.

SERVICES DIVISION

Operations of the Services Division are mainly behind the scenes work. Units, under its supervision, include the Records Bureau; Property Room; Adult detention facilities and jail kitchen, Statistics; and the Central Complaint Bureau, which processes approximately 328 logged calls daily, dispatching prowler cars and units as needed. Equipment needed for the operation of the Department are recommended by this Division and yearly budget requirements are also prepared here. Personnel: police 51; civilian 111.

The Honorable Gordon S. Clinton
Mayor
City of Seattle

Dear Sir:

The calendar year 1961 began with a new administration in the Police Department. The administration change was effected smoothly without disruption of department activities, wholesale transfers of personnel or changes in major policies and procedures. The primary problem to be faced was the use of police manpower. One concept, recognized as fundamental, is that the numbers of police officers are not as significant as the use made of police officers in assessing the protection given the community. With this concept in mind, several minor adjustments, some of which had been suggested by the administrative survey, were made to proceed toward the goal of the maximum use for police purposes of police personnel.

Planning for Century 21 was another area of immediate and continuing concern. Shortly after the first of the year a police supervisor was assigned to Century 21 on a full time basis. The presence of this officer gave the Police Department considerable insight in the projected activities of the Fair and enabled police planning to be incorporated into such things as physical structures, security procedures, personnel handling and other matters of vital concern.

An innovation, which has met with outstanding success in the field of crime repression, was the creation of the Special Patrol Unit. This Unit consists of a Lieutenant, two Sergeants and twelve Patrolmen who were used as a mobile striking force against specific crime problems. They operated directly under the Assistant Chief of Police, were freed of the responsibility of answering radio assignments and concentrated on crime problems. Their type of activity, including vehicles used, clothing worn and procedures, varied according to the needs of the problem of the moment. This Special Patrol, which early in this year might have been considered an experiment, has so established itself that it will be a continuing part of the police operation.

Within the Public Safety Bureau to allow consolidation of recommendations of the administration of activities. For example, from the Detective Division department is well on the way tained in the Central Records operations. The Detectives classification, and has made under better control. The Women and is in the process of photographing and fingerprinting Detective Division to the Service in 98% of all persons arrested enough, this improvement in money to the City of Seattle.

Due to budget reasons, early it was closed. There was some higher incident of arrests for crowding of the City Jail. closure of the Rehabilitation 7% in 1961 over 1960, arrests

The crime problem in the City heartening in some respects. as opposed to 1960. This 2%, homicide rape which actually reduced it was found in the comparative auto theft. In 1960 the auto theft rate. In 1961 auto theft rate ten year average for this office

Of great significance was the and over and in burglaries.

Police action to a great extent number of crimes in the City the rate of clearance for the mines the effectiveness of the and women of the Seattle Police in the clearance rates. In those cases of robbery in 49.7 clearance rate. This figure parison with other cities in picture. The national crime increase. These offenses in Seattle

Within the Public Safety Building's physical structure, modifications have been made to allow consolidation of activities, the conformance with some of the recommendations of the administrative survey or in the consolidation and streamlining of activities. For example, the Identification Bureau has been physically moved from the Detective Division and is a part of the Central Records Bureau. This department is well on the way to accomplishment of all police records being contained in the Central Records Bureau. This move returned four Detectives to field operations. The Detectives were replaced by Fingerprint Technicians, a civilian classification, and has made police records more complete, more accessible and under better control. The Women's Bureau was transferred to the Detective Division and is in the process of assimilation into that Division. The function of photographing and fingerprinting arrested persons has been changed from the Detective Division to the Services Division. The change of procedure has resulted in 98% of all persons arrested being photographed as opposed to a prior 8%. Oddly enough, this improvement in booking procedures actually resulted in a saving of money to the City of Seattle.

Due to budget reasons, early in 1961 the Police Department Rehabilitation Project was closed. There was some concern that closing the Project would result in a higher incident of arrests for drunkenness, or a higher crime rate, or in overcrowding of the City Jail. None of these things developed as a result of the closure of the Rehabilitation Project. Instead, although all arrests increased 7% in 1961 over 1960, arrests for drunkenness alone decreased by 3%.

The crime problem in the City of Seattle, while of a size to cause concern, was heartening in some respects. There was a 2% increase in Part I Offenses in 1961 as opposed to 1960. This 2%, however, was found in a percentage increase in forcible rape which actually relates to only twelve additional crimes. The rest of it was found in the comparatively innocuous crimes of larcenies under $50.00 and auto theft. In 1960 the auto theft rate in Seattle was the lowest in recent history. In 1961 auto theft rate shows a 9% increase but it is still far below the ten year average for this offense.

Of great significance was the decrease in aggravated assault, larcenies of $50.00 and over and in burglaries.

Police action to a great extent cannot prevent the commission of a substantial number of crimes in the City of Seattle. Police administrators' guide point is the rate of clearance for these crimes. This rate, more than any other, determines the effectiveness of the Police Department. The excellent work of the men and women of the Seattle Police Department is reflected in substantial improvements in the clearance rates of robbery, burglary, shoplifting and auto theft. In those cases of robbery in which a weapon was used or simulated, there was a 49.7 clearance rate. This figure is almost twice the national average. In comparison with other cities in our population group, Seattle presents an improved picture. The national crime rate for crime index reports offenses showed a 2% increase. These offenses in Seattle reflected a 5% decrease.

The analysis of these figures can lead only to the conclusion that city government in Seattle is effecting a greater control over crime than is found in other areas of this country. The term "city government" is used because the Police Department has enjoyed the excellent cooperation of all branches of government which are concerned with or involved in the crime problem.

Respectfully submitted,

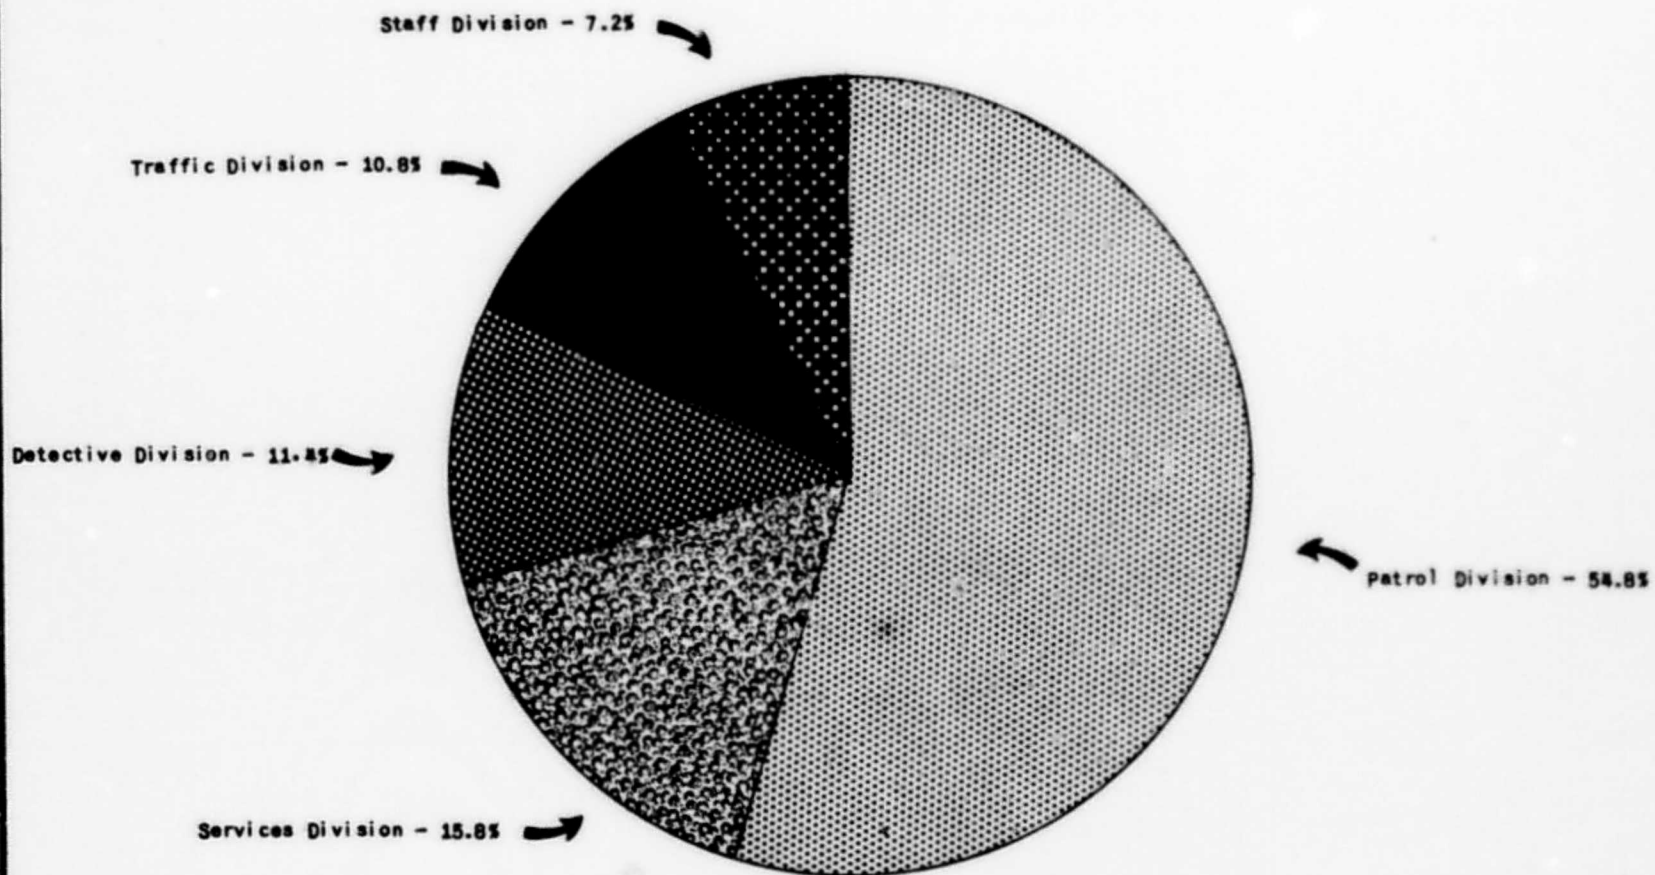

F. C. Ramon

*Breakdown of charges are not available.

Reckless driving is always charged in addition to the charge of drunken driving. This makes it possible for courts to dismiss or strike the drunken driving and convict on reckless driving. Of the 383 cases dismissed or stricken, 91 were dismissed or stricken on both counts.

The police department has been responsible for 24% of the total parking citations issued during 1961.

NOTE: In January, 1959 the handling of traffic citations issued to juveniles was discontinued. Juveniles cited for traffic violations are referred directly to the juvenile court by the municipal traffic court. 3,206 citations issued to juveniles in 1961 were handled in this manner.

Figures in Italics not included in total.
