PATROL DIVISION ACTIVITIES

The primary function of the Patrol Division is "to provide for crime suppression and law enforcement and ensure the provision of necessary police services."

This is accomplished through the maintenance of a patrol force, distributed throughout the city, 24 hours a day. The patrol force divides its time between answering calls for service, providing preventive patrol and administrative activities. Two tables are attached which provide a breakdown concerning calls for service. Table one lists the following items by month for 1970:

1. The total number of calls for service (excluding service calls for the department and auxiliary back-up cars).
2. The number of hours spent answering the calls for service.
3. The average number of cars assigned to the street per day.
4. The total hours of patrol time available.
5. The number of minutes required to complete the average call for service.
6. That percent of the total patrol time available which was used to answer calls for service.

Table two lists the calls for service by type.

A small degree of error has been introduced into these tables because the method of data tabulation was changed during 1970; however, the error is not of sufficient degree to offset the general usefulness of the tables.

It is of interest to note that in 1968 the IACP recommended that patrol car strength should be at such a level that 33% of the time spent on patrol would be devoted to calls for service. On an average, this goal was accomplished for 1970.

Several additional characteristics of patrol activities were analyzed; however, data was gathered in selected samples and not tabulated for the entire year.

The data sampled indicates that -

1. Response time (time required for a patrol car to reach the scene of an incident) averaged 6.32 minutes per call with a median of 5 minutes per call. On-view incidents were not included in the sample since the response time for on-view incidents is zero.
2. The average amount of time spent per eight hour shift on administrative activities (court attendance, car maintenance, meals, etc.) was 1 hour and 12 minutes or 15.0% of the total time available (sample size - 84 days). If the time spent on incidents (33.4%), administrative activities (15.0%) and transit time (6.2%) are subtracted from the total time available, then approximately 45.2% of the total patrol time would have been available for preventive patrol for 1970.

SUMMARY REPORT OF COMPLAINTS INVESTIGATED - 1970

Internal Investigations Division conducted a total of 512 investigations involving 609 police officers and 12 civilian personnel during 1970.

Disposition and Classification of Cases Received: When an investigation was completed, each complaint was classified in one of the following categories:

- (1) Unfounded The allegation was false or not factual. (In some instances complaints were lodged in good faith and without malice but had no sound basis in fact.)
- (2) Exonerated The incident complained of occurred but was lawful and proper.
- (3) Not Sustained There was insufficient evidence either to prove or disprove the allegation.
- (4) Sustained The allegations were supported by sufficient evidence.

For purposes of report simplification the complaints were categorized into six general classifications which incorporated the more explicit complaint descriptions. Complaints of force used were divided into three subclassifications for clarification. The number of complaints lodged by members of minority groups and complaints alleging off duty misconduct are denoted by (*) and (), respectively.

INTERNAL INVESTIGATION DIVISION REPORT

Recap of Disciplinary Action: For purposes of this report, the term disciplinary action has been expanded to include positive forms of discipline such as counseling, medical or psychological treatment and retraining, as well as the more conventional forms of discipline employed within the department. Discipline is a function of command, and as such, all disciplinary action implemented in 1970 was at the direction of either Chief of Police where the allegations were of a serious nature, or in his stead by the accused officer's bureau chief or commanding officer, where complaints were of lesser importance.
