The Honorable Sam Smith
City Council
Seattle, Washington 98104

Dear Sir:

SUBJECT: Statistical Report Additions and Corrections

Due to the fact that marijuana and liquor violations were decriminalized with the Revised Seattle Criminal Code, (effective December 3, 1974), statistics involving citations written for these violations were not included in the 1975 Statistical Report. (See attachment A)

In addition, please make the following changes in your copy of the 1975 Statistical Report:

Page 26 - "Ten Highest Census Tracts of Occurrence by Crime Type"

Under the column heading entitled "Rape", Census Tract "031" should read "081".

Page 51 - "Law Enforcement Officers Assaulted by Sector"

The figures in Charlie and David sectors are correct; however, the shading on the graph does not accurately represent them.

Page 53 - "Traffic Enforcement by Division"

Under the column heading designated for "Patrol Bureau, South Precinct, 2nd Watch", the figure for "No Operators License" should read 870 instead of 970.

Very truly yours,

R. L. HANSON

Dear Sir:

Submitted herewith is the 1975 Annual Report of the Seattle Police Department. This report is prepared in conformance with Article XXII, Section 12 of the Charter of the City of Seattle.

This report contains a brief summary of activities of the Police Department during the year 1975. A statistical compilation of information has been included for administrative purposes, and for use as a reference by municipal, governmental, educational and social groups and other law enforcement agencies.

CHIEF'S MESSAGE
ANNUAL REPORT

This past year was highlighted by the stabilization of the crime index for the first time since 1972. Major crime in Seattle was unchanged in 1975, compared to 1974, while nationally the same crimes rose nine percent. This leveling off of the crime index reflects increased public awareness of crime prevention techniques, and also increased productivity by police officers. Seattle's crime prevention activities make us one of the most progressive cities in the United States, an observation that is borne out by the latest statistics. The most promising benefits can be seen in the fight against burglary. Seattle experienced a nine percent decrease in this crime compared to a national increase of seven percent. Auto theft also showed a marked decrease of seven percent. With the unified cooperation of the criminal justice system, these trends in crime reduction will continue.

As Chief Justice Warren Burger of the United States Supreme Court has stated, the criminal justice system is similar to a tripod, with each of the legs representing a branch of the justice system; the police, courts and prosecution. I believe the criminal justice system can be better likened to a chair with four legs, with the corrections system represented by the fourth leg. Unfortunately, one often wonders whether the other legs are meeting their obligations to uphold the system. When one takes note of the sentences that are often imposed by our courts on violent, career offenders, it's difficult to maintain a respectful attitude. The recent finding of a Superior Court judge that a man who had fired a weapon at a police officer was really not attempting to wound the officer, but was attempting suicide believing the officer would shoot him, is illogical. As is the sentence given a man who attempted to fire a gun at point-blank range at another officer; a sentence which called for the man to serve 150 days in jail and participation in a half-way house probation program. These judicial actions are a mockery of the entire institution of law. Nevertheless, there is a growing realization that kid-glove treatment of violent offenders is not working. Many criminologists now accept the belief that certain punishment must follow criminal behavior.

On a positive note, the department accomplished some great things during this past year. We completed our conversion of our entire motor vehicle fleet from full-size to compact cars, a change that resulted in a saving of nearly $260,000 in fuel, maintenance and operational costs without a reduction in either safety or performance capability.

We continued to see a steady decrease in the number of citizen complaints logged with the Internal Investigations Section. This trend began in 1973 when 326 complaints were filed, and continued in 1974 with 204 complaints made, and last year when only 187 complaints were filed. When one compares these figures to the total number of citizen contacts our officers have throughout the year it is appropriate to observe that policing in Seattle is performed on a highly professional level, second to none.

1975 Complaints Investigated By

During 1975, 283 complaints alleging misconduct by employees of the Seattle Police Department were logged by the Internal Investigations Section. 92 of these complaints were civil claims and are being held inactive pending the completion of the claims process. One complaint involved an employee of another City Department and will be excluded from the balance of this report.

In addition to the logged complaints, 217 contacts with citizens were investigated by the Internal Investigations Section on a preliminary basis, resulting in either no indication of misconduct or were referred to line command for disposition. The Internal Investigations Section handled a total of 500 complaints and contacts during 1975.

Regarding the 283 logged complaints, 18 were received through the Ombudsman; 1 from the News Media; 5 from City Agencies such as the Mayor's Office, City Council and Citizen's Service Bureau; and 14 from outside agencies and citizen's groups.

A total of 33 complaints were received from the Black Community; 5 from the Indian population; 1 from the Oriental population; and 3 from other minority ethnic groups.

92 complaints involved civil claims for damages; 44 arose from traffic arrests; 58 from arrests other than traffic; and 15 involved employees off-duty.

Many of the complaints were composed of more than one allegation and were alleging misconduct by more than one employee. Therefore, the 190 complaints resulted in a total of 289 allegations against 453 employees of the Department.

Upon completion of the investigation, each allegation was classified into one of the following categories:

- a. UNFOUNDED - The preponderance of evidence indicates that the event described simply did not occur.
- b. EXONERATED - The preponderance of evidence indicates that the event described did occur, but the actions were lawful and proper.

For purposes of this report, the allegations have been listed under 6 general classifications and the force complaints are broken down into two sub-classifications:

VEHICLE FLEET

In 1975, the Seattle Police Department received national recognition for their operational knowledge on the "Compact Enforcement Vehicles". During the year, over 100 inquiries were received requesting information on the department's evaluation of the compact in enforcement operation.

In January 1975, a complete evaluation of the Compact Enforcement Vehicle program was undertaken by the Fleet Control Unit. It was determined that the original predictions, by going compact, of reducing fuel consumption by 50%, maintenance by 30% and accidents by 25%, were near accurate.

Prior to the transition to compacts, the fuel consumption for enforcement vehicles totaled approximately 624,000 gallons per year. The present consumption rate with compact enforcement vehicles is approximately 420,000 gallons. At the present price of gasoline this represents an annual savings of $124,400.

All department vehicles are leased through the City General Services Department on a monthly rate per vehicle utilization. The compact over the full size sedan is leased at a lower rate due to a lower maintenance cost. With a 13% increase in parts and labor over the year, this still resulted in an annual savings of $134,700.

The accident picture for this department since utilizing compacts has changed considerably. The average number of vehicular accidents per year prior to 1974 was 274. For 1975, the total number of accidents was 180 with total conversion to compacts not completed until August. The utilization of compacts was only one factor credited for this decrease.

The department's leased vehicle fleet consists of the following vehicles:

113	Compacts, Patrol
28	Compacts, Traffic Enforcement
9	Compacts, Canine
86	Compacts, General Purpose
4	Full Size Sedans, Canine

* The 'Park & Walk' program, initiated on November 28, 1973 because of the energy crises, is still in effect. Under this program the officers park their patrol cars and walk their beat for one hour per shift.

SEATTLE TRAFFIC FATALITIES PAST 10 YEARS

1975 Fatality Facts

There were 46 persons killed in 46 fatal traffic collisions in Seattle during 1975. Of the 46 fatalities, 18 persons were killed in collisions of two or more motor vehicles; 13 in ran-off-roadway or hit-fixed-object type of collisions, and 15 were pedestrians.

Twenty-four (24) fatal collisions (52%) occurred during hours of darkness. Normally about two-thirds occur at night.

Ten of the 15 pedestrians killed were female. Six of the pedestrians were killed crossing at intersections; four in marked crosswalks.

Six persons killed were riding motorcycles. It is interesting to note, however, that there have been no fatal bicycle collisions in Seattle since 1972.

The two months with the largest number of traffic fatalities were April and November with six each. February was the only month in which there were no fatal accidents.
