Seattle Police Department

Robert L. Hanson, Chief of Police
Wes Uhlman, Mayor

April 1, 1977

The Honorable Wes Uhlman
Mayor
City of Seattle

Dear Sir:

Submitted herewith is the 1976 Annual Report of the Seattle Police Department. This report is prepared in conformance with Article XXII, Section 12 of the Charter of the City of Seattle.

This report contains a brief summary of activities of the Police Department during the year 1976. A statistical compilation of information has been included for administrative purposes, and for use as a reference by municipal, governmental, educational and social groups and other law enforcement agencies.

Very truly yours,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "R. L. Hanson", is written over the typed name.

R. L. HANSON
Chief of Police

CHIEF'S MESSAGE
ANNUAL REPORT

Here are some facts about the police service that are worth highlighting.

Our officers respond to nearly 200,000 requests for service each year, ranging from serious crimes in progress to routine investigations and non-law enforcement tasks that fall on our shoulders because nobody else is there 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Ninety percent of all radio dispatches are directed to patrol officers, the men and women who constitute the largest bureau of the Department. Officers assigned to the Patrol Bureau handle approximately 721 incidents each per year, a figure that does not include court appearances and follow-up investigations. The often quoted statement that "patrol is the backbone of any police department" is certainly verified when one observes that 63% of all citations and physical bookings are made by patrol officers.

While crime statistics are not an accurate measure of performance by police officers, they do give us some indication of the effectiveness of our total effort. For example, the crime of burglary declined nine percent during the year, continuing a two-year reduction brought about primarily because of the close cooperation of the citizens of Seattle with our Department. Other crimes registering drops were murder down 19 percent, rape down one percent, assault down five percent, larceny down 17 percent, and auto theft down 22 percent. It's interesting to observe that over the past two years leaders of the criminal justice system have criticized the lenient sentencing practices of some judges. Soon thereafter we started reading about our prisons being full and our crime rates going down.

While it is exciting and fashionable to talk about our record, and while it is sometimes easy to pat ourselves on the back, I believe it is important at the same time to accept the notion that the police alone cannot have a major impact on crime. The police in the United States are not separate from the people. They draw their authority from the will and consent of the people, and they recruit their officers from them. The police are the instrument of the people to achieve and maintain order; their efforts are founded on principles of public service and ultimate responsibility to the public. Without public cooperation and assistance, the police mission will never be achieved. To a police officer, public service is more than a vague concept. When people need help, it is to a police officer that they are most likely to turn. This is particularly true with minorities and poor people. The officer responds immediately without first ascertaining the status of the person in need. It does not matter if that person is rich or poor. He need not meet complicated criteria to qualify as a recipient of aid or as a potential client. It is also important to note that the priorities established by police agencies are most influenced by the wishes of those policed.

I believe that the recent trends in law enforcement in this city have been good. As I have stated many times, we have increased our accountability to the public and, as a direct result of that effort on our part, the public is more appreciative and more understanding of our organization.

While we do not pretend that our Department is perfect or that we have achieved maximum effectiveness, we do pride ourselves on our record of accomplishments. The Seattle Police Department is an open, honest and vigorous police agency. We have developed a mutual partnership of trust and confidence with the people we serve, and we believe it can be accurately said that our Department is responsive to their needs.

1976 COMPLAINTS INVESTIGATED BY

During 1976, the Internal Investigations Section staff received 718 contacts from citizens with alleged complaints against Seattle Police Department employees. Of these, 297 were classed as information requests where the person was advised that there appeared to be no basis for a complaint or the complainant was not sure if he wanted to complain. Instructions were given on the reporting process and their names were logged on a "telephone contact log".

REFERRALS:

There were 230 complaints received in person or by phone that were logged and indexed by complainant's name. Of these, 141 were forwarded to line for administrative and/or supervisory handling. Ten were handled by the Internal Investigations Section by letter. Thirty-eight were held pending further information from the complainant, but no response was forthcoming. Twenty-one "suspense" complaints were eventually logged as Internal Investigations Section investigations, four became civil claims and twenty-two had no basis for a complaint.

FULL I.I.S. INVESTIGATIONS:

During 1976, 158 complaints containing 203 allegations of misconduct by Seattle Police Department employees were investigated by the Internal Investigations Section. Of this total, twenty-six were from the black community, three were from the Indian community, and five from other identifiable minorities. Of the 158 logged complaints, nine were received through the Ombudsman's Office, two were from the news media, one was from the City Council, and five were from other agencies. Forty-three of these complaints involved traffic arrests, and forty-four involved arrests other than traffic. Thirty of the cases involved alleged off-duty misconduct.

After investigation, fifteen of the 158 complaints were deemed to have no basis in fact for the allegations and they were unfounded without a referral to line commanders for review. There are ten logged complaints accusing sixteen employees which have not been closed at the time of this report.

INTERNAL INVESTIGATIONS SECTION

Upon completion of the investigation, each of the allegations was classified into one of the following categories:

- a. Unfounded - The preponderance of evidence indicates that the event described simply did not occur.
- b. Exonerated - The preponderance of evidence indicates that the event described did occur, but the actions taken were lawful and proper.
- c. Not Sustained - There is not a preponderance of available evidence to either prove or disprove the allegation.
- d. Sustained - The allegation is supported by a preponderance of evidence and the actions were in violation of some law, policy, rule or procedure governing the conduct of department employees.

For purposes of this report, the allegations have been listed under six general classifications with Use of Force subdivided into two classifications:

ALLEGATIONS	EMPLOYEES ACCUSED	UNFOUNDED	EXONERATED	NOT SUSTAINED	SUSTAINED
FORCE Excessive	22	1	13	7	1
FORCE Unnecessary	90	24	57	8	1
MISUSE OF AUTHORITY	33	6	23	1	3

HARASSMENT	8	5	3	0	0
FALSE ARREST	5	0	5	0	0
TOTALS	281*	83	125	34	39

*This figure represents a significant decrease from 1975, due principally to fewer complaints received and the elimination of civil claims from these statistics.

CRIMINAL INVESTIGATIONS DIVISION

The Criminal Investigations Division implemented several new programs in 1976 which are already showing positive results both in reducing crime and in apprehending offenders.

One of these programs, aimed at Commercial Robberies, provides photographs of robberies in progress. As a direct result of the program, 28 individuals were charged with robbery over an 8 month period at a greatly reduced expenditure of detective time.

The new "Fencing" Unit began to attack the outlets for stolen merchandise. The initial success of the program indicates that burglars will have an increasingly more difficult time disposing of stolen goods.

In 1976, two detectives were assigned to work full time with the Fire Department Arson Squad. Seattle has gained national recognition as a result, and arson is fast becoming a crime to be committed at a much greater risk of being apprehended.

JUVENILE DIVISION

After some years of planning, the Juvenile Division consisting of 23 detectives and supervisory people, transferred to the King County Youth Service Center. It is hoped that this transfer will result in increased cooperation and coordination with the court and prosecutors and make them more accessible to Patrol Officers.

VICE and NARCOTICS DIVISION

During 1976, the Narcotics Section initiated 491 investigations against drug traffickers and dealers resulting in 442 arrests.

A total of 4,685.3 grams of narcotics with an estimated street value of $2,235,407 was seized by the Narcotics Section, nearly quadrupling the amount seized in 1975. In addition, 906,315 units of dangerous drugs valued at $237,863 and 121,582 grams of hallucinogens (including marijuana) valued at $70,735 was seized.

The Vice Section conducted a major investigation of illegal sports betting which resulted in multiple arrests and charges.

Prostitution enforcement continues with emphasis on male patrons and procurers. Over 100 male patrons were arrested and 51 procuring charges were made of which 27 were felonies.

In the area of Pornography, 39 arrests were made for films and books, 21 for live shows and 11 for lewd dancing.

RECORDS, EVIDENCE and FLEET CONTROL DIVISION

During 1976, the Records, Evidence and Fleet Control Division collected, stored and disseminated information from 130,000 Offense, Arrest, Accident and Impound reports. In addition 85,000 requests for information were received and answered from citizens, other governmental and private organizations as well as department members.

In the Data Processing Section 35 'hits' were made from the unserialized property system, matching recovered property to reported stolen articles without identifying serial numbers. Included in the articles returned to their owners through this method were sailboats, sterling silver and paintings.

In the Identification Unit, the third year funding of the 'Single Fingerprint' grant, operational September 22, 1976, brought success to a computerized system that can match a single fingerprint, found at the scene of a crime to those of suspect prints stored in the computer file. In the first three months of operation, 10 matches were made resulting in the identification of the suspect(s) in 20 cases.

Ninety thousand items were placed into evidence through the Evidence Unit, and 60,000 articles were cleared for return to owner, auction, or disposal.

In 1976, the Fleet Control Section received requests from all over the United States in response to the Department's conversion from full sized sedans to compacts. The program has proved successful. However, a general weakness was determined in the use of bucket seats on the 1974 models but these seats have been rebuilt in order to increase useage time. Continuance of Seattle Energy Conservation encompasses a "Park and Walk" program. Patrol cars are parked and officers walk their beat for one hour per shift.

PERSONNEL DIVISION

As the response of minority and female candidates to our recruitment program has been traditionally low, the Personnel Division made concerted efforts to bring the minority and female personnel levels up to a representative position in the Department.

Special effort was given to Police Officer Recruits. Class #85 reflects this effort. (26 Total / 10 Minorities, includes 2 females. There is a total of 10 female Recruits in this class.)

The Personnel Division, in cooperation with Data Processing, has completed its implementation of Personnel Accountability System. This system gives the Department a bi/monthly computer printout of the status and location of all department personnel.

In 1975, there were 1,084 sworn personnel who used 67,872 disability leave hours. In 1976, there were 1,081 sworn personnel who used 62,040 disability leave hours. There is an overall reduction of 5,832 disability leave hours. This is an excellent effort in reducing disability leave time for which the sworn members can be proud.

TRAINING DIVISION

During 1976, the Seattle Police Training Center had the following accomplishments: 50 Seattle Police Recruits and 91 officers from outside agencies began and completed a basic training program. 334 S.P.D. officers and sergeants completed an 80-hour Advanced Crime Scene Investigations Course, 184 S.P.D. officers and 292 officers from outside agencies completed the three day Emergency Vehicle Operations Course program.

Firearms training was provided as follows: 2,792 requalifications, 143 officers received from 40 to 80 hours in a basic remedial course.

On the Breathalyzer, 174 S.P.D. officers and five University of Washington officers were recertified.

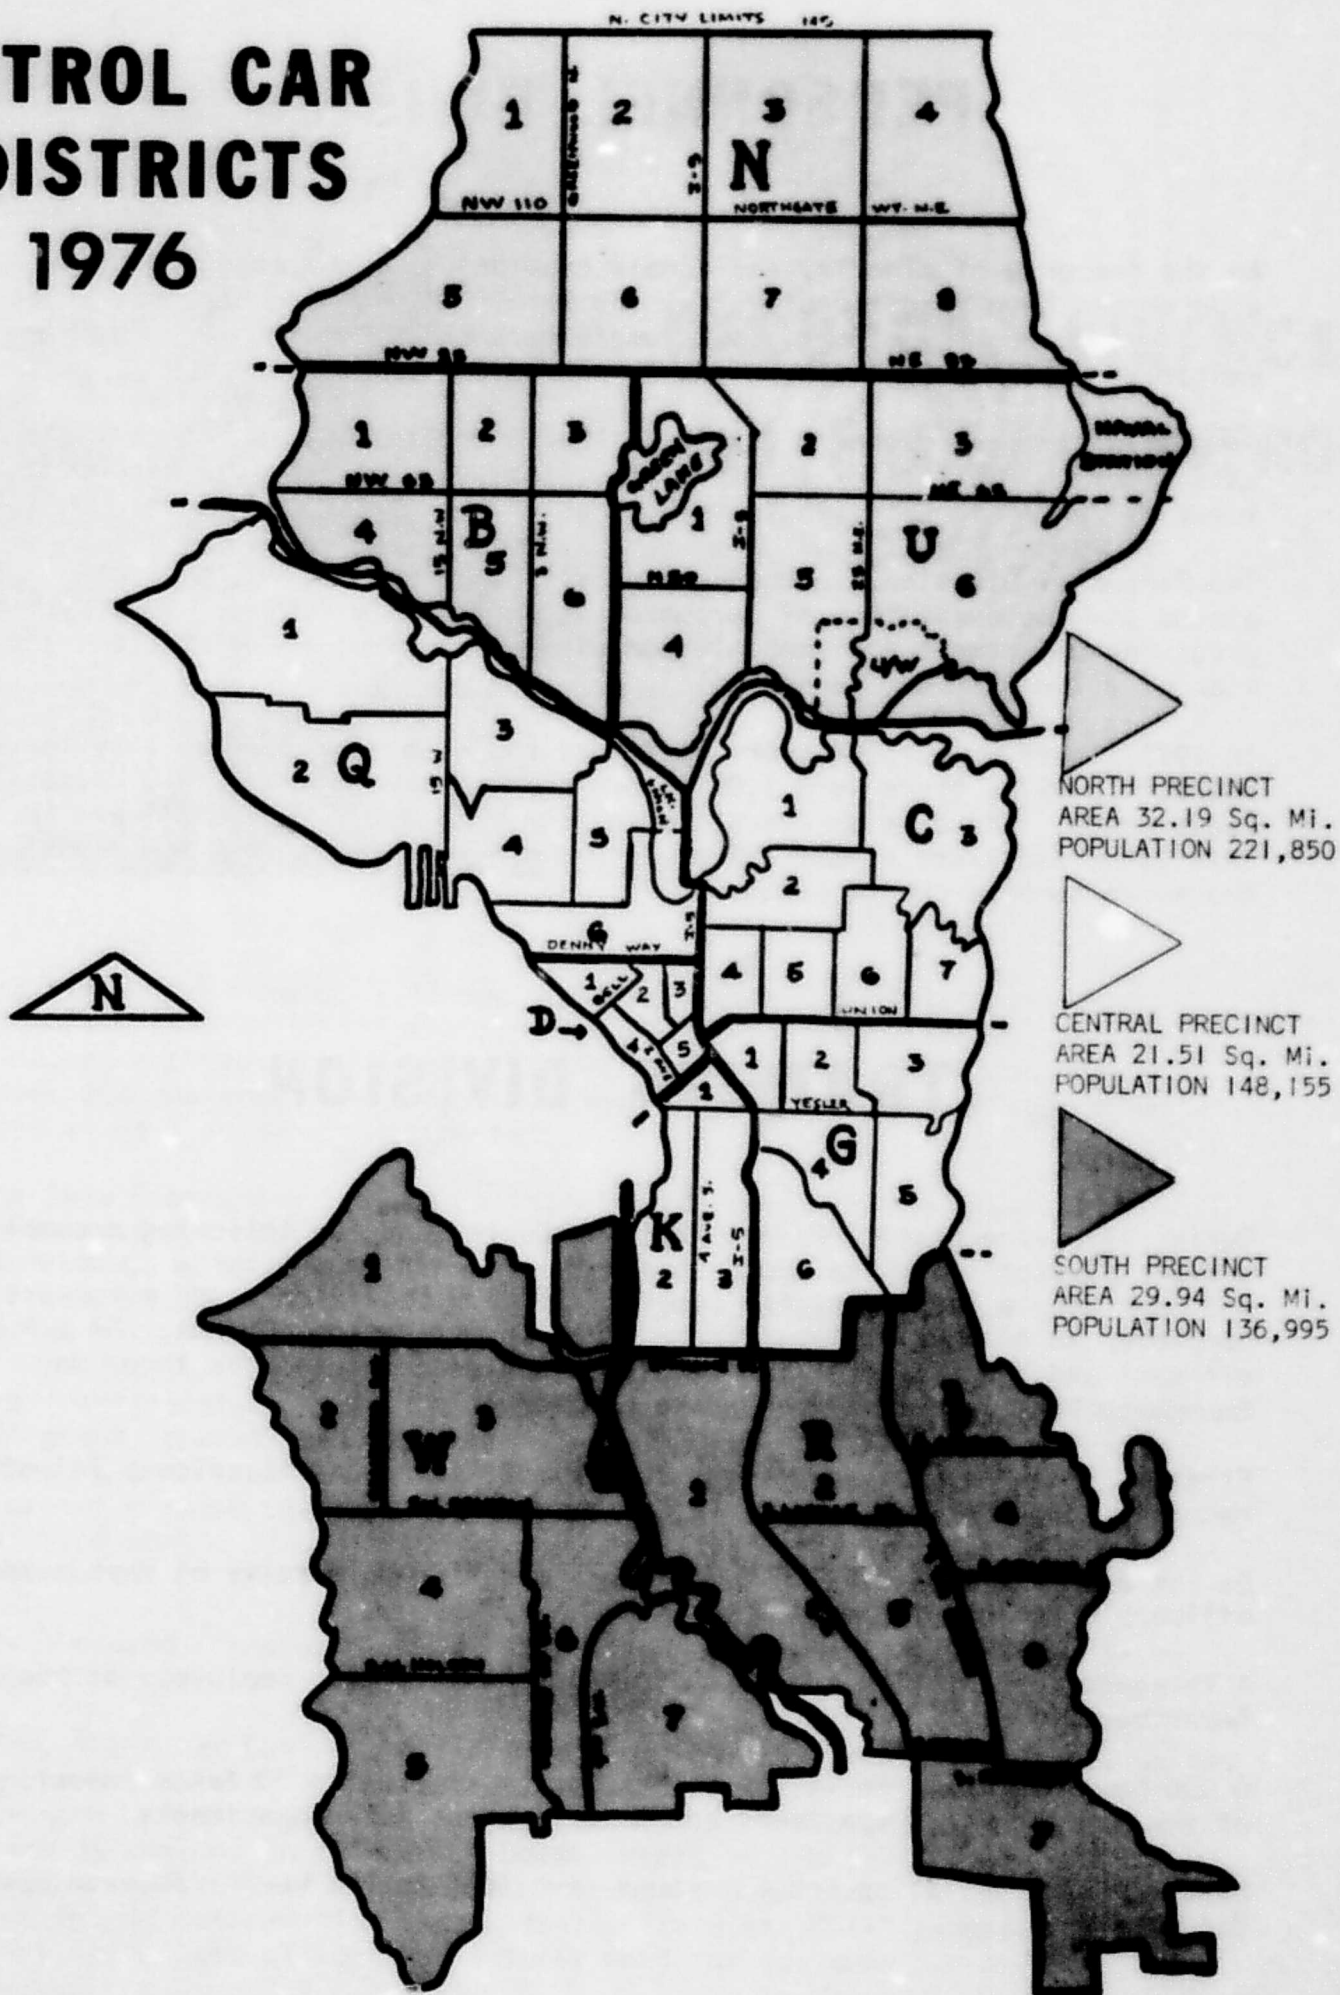

A three-day orientation course was given to 65 civilian employees of the Department.

A 200-hour basic course in law enforcement was given to 30 Arson Investigators of the Seattle Fire Department and several other fire departments.

Five Training Bulletins and one sound-on-slide program were also developed during 1976.

PATROL BUREAU

The Patrol Bureau, the nucleus of the Police Department, safeguards the community by providing sufficient police presence in all areas of the City to assure immediate response to calls for service. The Bureau provides an adequate force to patrol the City and initiate the necessary action to deter crime, apprehend criminals, and provide other essential services to the community.

In 1976, the Patrol Bureau, recognizing each individual officers' efforts, continued patrolling activities in all geographical areas of the City with a special emphasis on the "community concept" trend. The substantial decrease in crime can be partially attributed to public awareness of crime prevention through the Community Crime Prevention Program, the Seattle Police Security Unit and others. However, the major credit lies with individual officers of the Patrol Bureau. The Patrol Bureau's Community Concept Program and the Manpower Allocation Program give the citizens of Seattle better protection and faster response to all calls for service.

During the year 1976, the Patrol Bureau averaged 71 patrol cars on the street for each shift. These patrol cars averaged 50% one man and 50% two man units and drove a total of 3,156,714 miles. The patrol car beats range in size from 15 square blocks, in the heart of Downtown Seattle, to 845 square blocks, in the residential areas of the City.

Patrol Bureau Officers issued 46,232 Traffic Citations, 4554 Ordinance Citations and filed in excess of 8,000 Field Interview Reports. Patrol officers made 10,329 arrest bookings of which 3,254 were for Part I Offenses.

Patrol officers were dispatched to approximately 178,000 incidents and handled an additional 48,950 on view incidents. Patrol officers spent an average of 38.6 minutes on each incident. The response time averaged 14.5 minutes per call, with an average of 5.0 minutes for an emergency response and 16.8 minutes for a non-emergency response.

There were a total of 595 assaults on Seattle Police Officers during 1976. Firearms were involved in 24 of the assaults while 59 involved knives or other dangerous weapons. In December, 1975, the Patrol Bureau began issuing to the first line officers, 350 armor vests which were received on a LEAA grant.

Within a few days of being issued the above armor vest, this officer was shot three times at point blank range. Obviously, the vest saved his life.

Recognizing the need for these protective vests, the City Purchasing Office put out for bid in May, 1976, an order for 650 additional vests.

Another highly successful Patrol initiated program that has received international acclaim is the Pioneer Squad. The publicity and public relation value of the Pioneer Squad far exceeds the cost of the program. Seattle area residents and tourists alike continue to make favorable comments. The individual officers of the Squad are probably the most photographed police officers in the Nation.

The continued cooperation between the Pioneer Square Community and the Patrol Bureau insures the success of the Pioneer Squad for years to come.

Officers of the Patrol Bureau are engaged in many community activities as police officers and as private citizens. They serve on Community Councils, PTSA's and other school functions.

Officers are also engaged in providing guidance to the youngsters of the community. They are coaching Little League and Sandlot sports activities as well as Drum and Bugle, Baton and Marching Drill Teams.

Officers and citizens have become involved in understanding individual community problems as they work together towards improving their neighborhood. These programs have established a mutual bond as the officers are responsible for and care about what is going on in their permanently assigned areas.

With community involvement, the Patrol Bureau will continue to give better service and attempt to reduce the crime statistics even more than in the past.

CANINE UNIT

The Canine Unit began the year with eight fully trained officer/dog teams. By December 31, 1976, the number had increased to eleven teams. These teams proved to be a very effective use of police resources in combatting crime by searching, tracking and assisting other officers.

During the year the Unit was responsible for 489 arrests, of which 332 were directly attributed to the dogs. In 52 instances, the suspect surrendered on sight or sound of the dog, or were revealed to the searching officers while attempting to flee. The Canine teams were very effective in large building searches, such as schools, where 33 burglary suspects were located. Seven suspects were disarmed by dogs. There were 112 instances in which evidence was found by the dog after locating the suspect.

MOUNTED PATROL UNIT

The Mounted Patrol Unit consists of one sergeant and eight full-time officers with two additional officers during the summer. There are nine mounts attached to the Mounted Patrol.

The unique configuration and accessibility of the 2,500 acres which comprise the ten major parks within the Seattle city limits, presents special enforcement problems for police. While some parks can be policed by vehicles, others have rough terrain, narrow wooded trails, and isolated areas, precluding the use of vehicles. In addition, our warm, rainy climate tends to soften the soil, making lawns and paths impassable for vehicles. Horses, however, can be used in these fragile environments with minimal damage to the land.

During 1976, the Mounted Patrol spent 4,315 hours patrolling these parks:

Carkeek	Ravenna
Cowan	Seward
Discovery	Volunteer
Green Lake	Waterfront
Lincoln	Woodland

The versatility of the Mounted Patrol was demonstrated as the role of the Unit was expanded to include crowd control at major functions throughout the city, such as:

- Twenty-five Rock Concerts at the Seattle Center
- Seafair Activities
- Fourth of July Fireworks
- Sports and Special Events at the Kingdome:
  - Grand Opening
  - Billy Graham (7 days)
  - Three Rock Concerts
  - Ten Seahawks football games
  - Three Sounders soccer games

In addition, the Unit also patrolled various areas of the city on a routine basis including:

The Downtown area	Pioneer Square
Capital Hill	Seattle Center
Columbia City	High Point & Rainier Vista Projects
Hillman City	Alki & Golden Gardens Beaches
Lake City	Zoo area

SPECIAL ACTIVITIES SECTION

The Special Activities Section has the responsibility of policing the seventy-four acre Seattle Center complex, security and crowd control at the Center site, and at the Kingdome stadium. The Section is also responsible for management of the 70 person Seattle Police Reserve Unit, and the 50 person Seattle Police Explorer Post.

In 1976, an estimated 8½ million people attended events or visited the Seattle Center. More than two million persons attended Kingdome events. The officers assigned to these positions enjoy favorable personal contacts with citizens, and with visitors from all over the world.

WATER and AIR PATROL SECTION

The Water and Air Patrol Section is responsible for providing police services along the fresh and salt water shorelines within the city, with the exception of Elliott Bay and Duwamish River.

Two helicopters are utilized for the Section's air patrol duties. The helicopters are most often used as surveillance platforms to support ground units in searches to identify and apprehend suspects. The versatility of this equipment is also evidenced by the unit's participation as an observer, communications center, and command post in times of emergency, traffic control, large gatherings and unusual occurrences.

Water patrol, law enforcement and rescue are accomplished by the operations of four patrol boats. During 1976, 215 vessels, valued at over 3 million dollars were assisted in emergencies. Another 32 boats, found adrift or abandoned after theft, were returned to owners. As a direct result of Water Patrol efforts, 31 people were rescued from possible drowning.

COMMUNICATIONS DIVISION

A total of 577,510 calls for assistance and emergency services were received on 911 lines during 1976. These calls were in turn handled by radio dispatch, referral to the Seattle Fire Department, or other agencies, or 911 operator assistance to the caller. This accounted for a 3% increase in incoming calls and a 9% increase in radio traffic over the previous year.

Added to the extensive data request, radio dispatch, and other support of Seattle Police field units, the division was actively engaged in developing improvements in the Sea-King and Washington Crime Information Center services, the Select System, and in the Alaskan Way viaduct Emergency Phone installation project. Personnel, training, equipment and service remain the top priorities.

COMMUNITY SERVICE OFFICER SECTION

Community Service Officers responded to, or initiated, 25,164 calls for service during 1976. These calls included police incident reports, assistance to other S.P.D. units, reports and investigation of neighborhood complaints, requests for emergency service and family assistance, crime prevention, traffic hazards, and other community services.

The C.S.O. Section is always interested in developing an awareness of its program with the community. Members were very active in community/security lectures, and personal contacts, as well as in disseminating information regarding their unique services at local schools, hospitals, businesses and community meetings. The C.S.O. made television appearances and were featured in the news media on numerous occasions.

CRIMES SPECIFIC SECTION

Members of the Crimes Specific Section were very active during 1976 in their primary role of identifying crime problem trends or continued criminal activity--then taking direct police enforcement action to solve the problem. Examples include successful operations directed toward reducing strong-arm robberies, residential burglaries, parking meter larcenies, vice, narcotics and other street crimes by use of decoys, and saturation patrol. The members of the Section were responsible for 3,596 arrests for such activities.

In addition, the Section was active in diverse assignments such as investigation follow-up, crowd control, community and neighborhood event security, and V.I.P. protection and assistance for the President Vice-President, political candidates, and Kings, Queens and Ambassadors.

TRAFFIC DIVISION

The Bicentennial year, 1976, can be remembered as the year of many special events, all of which required extensive planning and operations by the Traffic Division.

Nine officers and one sergeant were assigned the traffic responsibility for the Kingdome and other special events. A Courteous Driver Award program was carried out with very good response from our community and from out-of-state drivers. Bicentennial events taxed resources, but were adequately controlled. Seafair was bigger and better than ever, requiring maximum effort. Communications equipment was upgraded for Parking Enforcement Officers, thereby expanding their service capabilities and support activities.

SEATTLE TRAFFIC FATALITIES PAST 10 YEARS

1976 FATALITY FACTS

There were 53 persons killed in 50 fatal traffic collisions in Seattle during 1976. This is a 15% increase over the 46 persons killed last year.

A breakdown of the types of fatal collisions shows that three types of accidents were responsible for all but two of Seattle's 1976 fatalities. Seventeen persons were killed in each of these three types: (1) collision of two or more vehicles, (2) ran-off-roadway and hit fixed object, and (3) pedestrian.

One of the remaining two fatalities resulted from a youngster falling from a moving vehicle. The other was a bicyclist, the first bicycle fatality in Seattle since 1972.

Seven of the 17 fatal pedestrian accidents, or 41%, occurred during the hour of darkness. Normally about 67% occur during darkness. Fourteen of the pedestrians, or 82%, were over 65 years of age; six being in their 80's.

The month with the highest number of fatalities was October with eight.

These figures do not include five persons killed on the Freeway (I-5) within the Seattle city limits.
