Title:A Proclamation by Mayor Michael McGinn declaring May 13-23, 2010, to be Seattle Beer Week.

Date Filed with City Clerk:20100429

PROCLAMATION

- Whereas, Seattle is recognized by many to be the epicenter of high-quality, craft beer brewing and boasts the most artisanal, family-owned breweries in the nation; and
- Whereas, it was in the late 1970s in Seattle, where the term "microbrewery" was first coined, a word used to describe a small brewery dedicated to creating hand-crafted, specialty beer; and
- Whereas, like fine wines or small-batch liquors, epicureans and microbrew enthusiasts have come to appreciate and savor the regional and nuanced varieties available in the hand-crafted lagers and ales offered today; and
- Whereas, in honor of the 8,000-year tradition of specialty brewing, microbrew aficionados will join local restaurants, pubs and stores to celebrate locally-brewed beers and brewers throughout a 10-day long 'brewer's week' of festivities; and
- Whereas, more than 60 local venues will host a rousing collection of events throughout this year's festival,

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Michael McGinn, Mayor of the City of Seattle, hereby proclaim May 13th through May 23rd, 2010 to be

Seattle Beer Week

and I hereby urge citizens to join me in recognizing the efforts of the many family-owned, Seattle-based microbreweries during this festival!
