Arthur Shwab	07/22/12	Commissioner	Reappointment
Damien Carter	07/22/12	Commissioner	Reappointment
Merri Ann Osborne	07/22/12	Commissioner	Reappointment

The Seattle Human Rights Commission is composed of fifteen members: seven appointed by the Mayor, subject to City Council confirmation; seven appointed by Council; and one appointed by the Commission itself. All appointments are subject to City Council confirmation. Attached to this memorandum is the current membership roster of the Seattle Human Rights Commission, including the new appointees.

Bios for the appointees are as follows:

New Appointments:

Jennifer Yogi

Jennifer Yogi attended the University of Washington-School of Law. She is currently serving as a Staff Attorney with the Northwest Justice Project providing free legal representation for the low-income. As an advocate in the Native American unit, she serves clients in a variety of areas, including family law, housing, education, and public benefits. Jennifer is committed to promoting fairness and addressing discrimination in Seattle, Jennifer volunteers with the King County Bar Association Neighborhood Legal Clinic in the International District.

Martin Penner

Martin Penner is a Project Manager for Unitus, Inc. a non-profit operating in the field of microfinance. He was involved in establishing a new branch office in Nairobi, Kenya. He has served as the key liaison for communication operations supporting their work in 10 different countries. Martin has long been involved in the area of international human rights as a Senior Fellow with Humanity in Action, an international organization creating comparative research/study programs and ongoing discussion on minority rights within democracies in the United States and five countries in Europe. Martin is committed to human rights, working with Seattle's Horn of Africa Services to address issues of Seattle's East African refugee and immigrant community. Martin will fill the unexpired term of former Commissioner Marvin Stern; he will be eligible for two additional two-year terms.

Reappointments:

Arthur Shwab

Arthur Shwab came to the U.S. as a refugee from Russia, which has inspired him to serve the immigrant community in a wide range of capacities, including legal aid, mentoring, and community organizing. Mr. Shwab has engaged in extensive travel, having served as a liaison for a delegation from the Republic of Kazakhstan on an exchange program focused on the U.S. legal system and government administration, managed a food program in Tegucigalpa, Honduras, and studied abroad in Israel and Spain. Mr. Shwab is a graduate and current law student at Seattle University. Mr. Shwab speaks Russian, Spanish, and Hebrew. Mr. Shwab serves as chair of the Commission's Public Safety Task Force and played a pivotal role in the Commission's report on the proposed Aggressive Solicitation Ordinance.

Damien Carter

Damien Carter graduated the University of Illinois at Chicago College of Medicine and currently serves as a Research Fellow at the Harborview Medical Center Department of Surgery. In accordance with his passion and oath as a physician, Dr. Carter has a strong interest in human rights issues particularly international and public health. To that end, Dr. Carter has worked through the Commission to increase access to respite care in the Seattle area. Dr. Carter has also served on the Commission's appeals committee for two years, working to ensure equal opportunity for all in the public and private sector.

Merri Ann Osborne

Merri Ann Osborne received a Master's Degree in Conflict Resolution from the Department of Peace Studies, University of Bradford, United Kingdom. Ms. Osborne currently works at Solid Ground (formerly the Fremont Public Association). Ms. Osborne has worked or volunteered with the ACLU, Amnesty International, Multi-Faith Works, and the Seattle Human Rights Film
