Comments: Re-Appointment
Dane G. Boog recently graduated from the University of North Florida, where he received a B.A. in International Studies with a minor in French. He has previously held leadership roles with Florida's leading LGBT advocacy organizations and in an international human rights organization focused on hate crime legislation in France, Eastern Europe and the Russian Federation. Boog has also done extensive work within the HIV/AIDS community and has lived in every region of the United States. Most recently, Boog relocated to Seattle from Jacksonville, FL., in September of 2009. Boog quickly made Seattle his home and finds himself constantly encouraged and inspired by the vitality of the Emerald City. He currently works as a faculty assistant at the University of Washington in the Department of Global Health. His many interests include civil rights, public policy, conflict transformation, global health and community activism. Boog is excited to offer his new home an active hand in leadership and community development. In his spare time, Boog enjoys traveling and studying different cultures through food, linguistics and ritualistic celebrations. Boog's top priorities are serving his community and making time for family and friends.
