08/06-10/07 Murase Associates, Seattle, Washington
Project Manager/Landscape Architect I was Responsible for many aspects of work from initial client meetings to final walk through with clients and owners. This included client and contractor communications, site visits, inventory, design, development, the production of construction drawings, bid administration and construction observation. Management of a range of projects with construction values between $25,000 to over $2.5 million, and have a proven ability in communicating effectively with owners, design team consultants, and contractors.

My past experience as a general contractor and design-build employee gives me a unique perspective and approach to project management. I understand the long-term cost benefits gained by including all design team members in initial design development, and continuing their involvement through to the final phase. Also, I gained additional first-hand knowledge of construction practices and materials that ensured all aspects of design and construction are creative, dynamic, and functional.
