Residential Architectural Design Leadership
specializing in elegant solutions to practical problems

SKILLS

- Creative, persistent conceptualizing and problem solving in urban settings for a wide variety of residential building types.
- Proven ability to direct complex design and construction processes with outstanding architectural results.
- Detailed understanding of construction processes, methods, and costs, as well as and Owner/Developer's understanding of project management.

ACHIEVEMENTS

Design/Build/Development Created innovative and profitable partnerships to realize single and multi-family projects in the Rainier Valley area of Seattle. Regional and national design recognition for completed projects.

Sustainable Design Regionally-recognized leadership in developing a depth of experience building on sensitive natural sites, using low-impact design approaches and materials. Designed and constructed projects regionally and internationally using appropriate technologies, recycled and low-toxicity materials.

Process Management Developed an organization to direct and coordinate teams of consultants, permitting authorities, and tradespeople on complex building projects with budgets up to $4.5 million. Implemented systems of accountability and risk management for each member of each project team.

Project Development Tony Case began his independent practice as a private investor in residential projects in the Madison Park and Capitol Hill neighborhoods of Seattle. While the firm's average project size has grown, the early lessons in recognizing potential value and in maximizing a project's return remain core principles.

Design Recognition Directly designed residential projects published in Pacific Magazine, Northwest Home & Garden, Seattle Times, and other local publications. Associate design responsibility on projects published in The New York Times, Unset, Cascadia Forum, and Architectural Record.

RELATED EXPERIENCE

Project Manager Organized and directed renovation of downtown high-rise apartment complexes for low-income tenancies. Owner's representative in material and finish selection and exterior common area treatments for 4 new low-
