Comments: Bernie Alonzo has been planning and designing projects as a landscape architect in Seattle for 17 years. His work is primarily within complex, dense settings, integrating ecological design into the existing urban fabric. His experience on projects that involves coordinating with agencies to integrate various modes of transportation will be particularly helpful to the Design Commission. His interest in the use of water in design, and an eye for finding low cost, effective, unique solutions will be a valuable addition. Bernie holds a Bachelor of Arts in Landscape Architecture and a Certificate in Design Firm Management from the University of Washington.

Bernie Alonzo

PLA, ASLA, LEED AP BD+C

Principal

GUSTAFSON GUTHRIE NICHOL

Bernie Alonzo's years of experience encompass all aspects of sustainable project planning and design. Bernie leads GGN's projects from concept through construction, including site selection, the programming of both sites and structures, the development of initial concepts and deliverables, budgeting, and the execution of documentation and construction administration.

Bernie is responsible for leadership and project management for major, complex projects like the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation Campus. Currently, he is working with Sound Transit and the Washington State Department of Transportation to integrate new transportation options within the historic design of the University of Washington.

Relevant Work

Bernie volunteers his time and expertise to consult and lecture on topics at the forefront of sustainability.

- Worked with the Pacific Science Center to integrate the Living Building Challenge into their strategic master plan for the next 50 years.
- Lecturer: "Large Scale Rainwater Harvesting to Eliminate Potable Water Use" (2012 WASLA Conference)
- Lecturer: "The University of Washington Montlake Triangle: Landscape Architects Leading Large, Complex Projects" (2012 WASLA Conference)
- Lecturer: "Sustainability from the Ground Up in an Urban Setting" (2011 Seattle Public Utilities Green Gardening Workshop)

Selected Projects

Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation Campus, Seattle, WA

Project Designer/Managing Principal. Planning, site design, and sustainability studies for a 12-acre, multi-phased, LEED-Platinum campus adjacent to Seattle Center. In a first for Washington in an urban context, the campus stores and reuses rainwater to meet building, irrigation, and water feature needs.

University of Washington Rainier Vista & Pedestrian Landbridge, Seattle, WA

Managing Principal. Development of design studies and construction documentation to lower a roadway, build a pedestrian bridge, and reinvigorate a signature landscape. GGN's design for extending and strengthening the historic Vista integrates dramatic views and multi-modal, active circulation between the campus and the city.

Nu Skin Innovation Center & Campus, Provo, UT

Managing Principal/Client Point of Contact. Design strategy and coordination of an on-structure, 8-acre landscape in the heart of downtown Provo. The campus unifies new and existing buildings to create a high-quality environment for employees and larger community events.
