EXPERIENCE

ARCADE Dialogue on Design

Editor, Executive Director,
1999 – Present

As Editor I provide curatorial leadership for the planning and development of ARCADE's award-winning magazine, which places a premium on forward-thinking and innovative design and art perspectives and solutions. I solicit, edit and write editorial; manage volunteer writers, artists and staff; and work closely with graphic designers on art direction. I am the representative at quarterly launch celebrations where the public is invited to gather in real time. ARCADE also presents and co-hosts a number of events in the community, including educational lectures and workshops, tours, film series and other cultural happenings.

As Executive Director for this Seattle-based nonprofit that creates opportunities — in print, online, and in the community — for sharing ideas about design, culture, art and the built environment, I collaborate with a diverse and changing ARCADE Board of Trustees to ensure that all aspects of the organization's goals and mission are met, committee members and creative contributors. I cultivate relationships with key stakeholders, donors and community partners, and advocate for the organization in the community.

KELLY A. RODRIGUEZ

15 April 2014

Office of Arts & Culture | City of Seattle
Elisheba Johnson
700 Fifth Avenue, Suite 1766
Seattle, WA 98124

Dear Selection Committee,

I was thrilled to recently learn about the call for a new Seattle Arts Commissioner, as I have been seeking a higher level of engagement with the City since my wonderful experience serving on the 2012 Denny Substation Artist Selection Panel.

I am a seasoned design and arts administrator with strong ties to the local, regional and national design communities, having played a key role in shaping the direction of ARCADE for nearly 14 years as editor, and as of May 2011, executive director. I have led and collaborated with a changing and high-caliber board of trustees and editorial committee, representing the best and brightest design and art thinkers in the region, and have cultivated relationships with a broad cross-section of professionals and patrons from the design, art, academic and government communities — near and far — to develop creative content that crosses disciplines. I am also the spokesperson for ARCADE at our quarterly publication launch celebrations, annual lectures, film events and educational workshops where I cultivate community. I'm equally comfortable engaging with leaders of government, high-level financial contributors, designers, artists and children—and everyone in between.

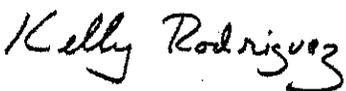

For the last 20 years my academic, professional and private pursuits have guided me in the directions of education and art as they relate to design, most recently during an ARCADE-conceived and co-hosted educational workshop for middle through high school students that was inspired by Project H's work in rural Bertie County, NC.

In the last 16 years I have been privy to conversations regarding projects and issues around Seattle's Interbay, waterfront, South Lake Union, transit-oriented development, large and small infrastructure works, and revolutionary projects such as the Bullitt Center. I bring an educated eye, a finely tuned listening ear, a broad and inclusive perspective, and a passion for the value and quality of the urban fabric.

I'm genuinely excited about the state of the city of Seattle at this point in history — it's certainly world-class on a number of fronts — and I would be honored to collaborate with the broad thinkers who comprise the Arts Commission in their efforts to help shape the evolution of this Great Pacific Northwest city.

I look forward to hearing from you and encourage you to contact me with any questions.

Kind regards,

Kelly Rodriguez
