Honorable Tim Burgess, President
Seattle City Council
City Hall, 2nd Floor
600 4th Avenue
Seattle, WA 98104

Dear Council President Burgess:

I am pleased to transmit the attached proposed Joint Resolution that creates Indigenous Peoples' Day in the City of Seattle.

When Seattle was declared to be a Human Rights City on December 10, 2012, it committed itself to protect, respect, and fulfill the full range of inherent human rights set forth in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and numerous other international human rights treaties. That is particularly resonant because Seattle is built upon the homelands and villages of the Indigenous Peoples of this region. The tremendous contributions made to our community through the Indigenous Peoples' knowledge, labor, technology, science, philosophy, arts, and culture have substantially shaped the character of our city.

In the spirit of that commitment and celebration of that legacy I ask you and other members of the Seattle City Council to declare Indigenous Peoples' Day in the City of Seattle as the second Monday in October each year hereafter.

Thank you for your consideration of this proposed legislation. Should you have questions, please contact Steve Lee at (206) 684-7904.

Sincerely,

Edward B. Murray
Mayor of Seattle
